He spent most of August, when he should have been on vacation, trying various methods of detecting sound through the device. He worked for a while on vibrations picked up from panes of glass in windows and framed pictures, and he experimented briefly with the diaphragms in speaker systems, intercoms and telephones. He kept on into October without stopping and finally achieved a system that would give tinny but recognizable sound from any vibrating surface? a wall, a floor, even the speaker's own cheek or forehead.
